At Colonial Garden

Fred Waring and his famous Pennsylvanians known throughout the world by their talking machine records and tours as well as throughout the greater part of the United States, by reason of their long engagements in the larger picture houses, are to be heard in "Symphonion" the REO All-Talker, coming to the Garden Theatre.

Fred Waring enjoys a unique distinction in the world of music. Beginning the organization of his present band when he was a student at Penn State College, he gathered his fellow students together and formed the now internationally known orchestra. In several American cities they have played for as long as forty weeks, while but recently they concluded a long and successful engagement at Des Ambassadeurs, famous theatre-restaurant.

In addition to the nine numbers to play in this first of Radio pictures, including the popular new song hits for this show, such as "I'll Always Be In Love With You," "Jericho," "Do Something," a number of singing and dancing artists will appear.

In the cast unfolding the love story which details the ambitions and heartbreaks of a pair of Broadway hoofers are Barbara Bennett, Bobby Watson, Ian Hunter, Morton Downey, Osgood Perkins, Mackenzie Ward, Veree Teasdale and Dorothy Lee.

A Silver Party

Mrs. L. H. Lazelle gave a unique party on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of raising money for the golden jubilee of the Women Board of Missions. The apportionment for the local Union Missionary society is $140 to be raised this year.

Mrs. Lazelle invited to her home all women whose birthdays came in April so far as she could ascertain. There were ten present, two of whom had birthdays on Saturday, Mrs. P. E. Evans and Mrs. L. R. Alexander. Each contributed to the Golden Jubilee Bowl, several giving the amount in money that they are years old. The contributions were $53.00. The afternoon was spent socially with refreshments.

It is hoped that several others will hold similar "silver parties" until all the months are covered, as it is a pleasant and unusual party one may get together.

DRAWING TO END OF CLEAN-UP, PAINT-UP, FIX-UP CAMPAIGN

BOY AND GIRL SCOUTS DOING GOOD WORK IN CLEANING UP MANY LOCAL EYESORES ON ROAD MARGINS AND ELSEWHERE.

THE CLEAN-UPPERS

"Clean up, paint up"—the welkins ring. That slogan is the sign of spring; "Fetch rake and spade and come along And join the clean up, paint up throng; We're going to wage a clean-up war For dirt's a thing we quite abhor; So hasten, matrons, maids and men, The clean-up army's here again; The children, too, can help us fight, There'll be a battle-royal right; Our enemies—disease and dirt, Trash and disorder—will get hurt; We're armed with shovel, brush and broom— These war-like weapons spell their doom."

Strong words like these are on the air, With clean-up soldiers everywhere, On every street you hear them sing This merry war-song of the spring; And if you cheer, as you should do, They're apt to wave a rake at you; No use to try to hide or lurk At home—there's too much clean-up work And clean-up officers insist That every citizen enlist; The duty of each man is plain— He cannot dodge the spring campaign; But when the clean-up battle's won There'll be some feasting and some fun.

—Maud Wood Henry.

COLONIAL POLITICAL VERSE FOR HER PHILOSOPHY DEGREE

Collective five years of Colonial political verse is the unique task assigned herself by Miss Louise Miner of Northfield is qualifying for her doctor of philosophy degree as Columbia University. Doggerel satirizing the "Thirteen in one" plan of the Federalists was given by Miss Miner last Friday in a talk before Northfield students, illustrating how present day political ideas compare with those of early America.

Chief among the sources of political verse, Miss Miner found the American Antiquarian society library, under Laurence S. Brigham, at Worcester. Her field, however, includes towns and cities throughout the original 13 colonies. Miss Miner formerly was instructor in English as Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y.

BOY'S BRIGADE OF CAMBRIDGE MAKE MANY FRIENDS HERE

Cool Raymond Merrill, officers and members of Co. G., of the Boy's Brigade, Cambridge, made many friends here during their altogether too short week-end visit and, despite the wretched samples of weather handed out to them, seemed to enjoy every moment of their stay. From the minute of their arrival on Friday last there was something doing officially all the time and some individuals managed to get in a little fishing and social visits on the side. The only thing that lacked was our picturesque trail hikes, which the bad weather did not permit.

A competitive military drill was conducted at Skinner Gymnasium on Friday evening in which our local Boy's Brigade participated. The visiting brigade won first and second prizes, gold and silver medals, and William Carr of the local brigade won here a bronze medal. The Boston brigade brought a drum corps of seven pieces which played at the drill. Supper was served for both brigades at the Congregational church vestry.

On Saturday the boys had their morning stunts around the Grange hall (where they were quartered) and then paraded through town. In the afternoon they visited Mt. Hermon and were entertained there at the gymnasium. In the evening came the Military Ball, a unique feature for Northfield, given at the town hall by the visiting company. This included the always picturesque trooping the colors and a musical march by sixteen members of Company G. Right up to midnight there was general dancing, with intermission for refreshments, and the young folks, as well as the older ones, had a most enjoyable time.

On Sunday the Brigade had church parade with about half to St. Patrick's and the other half to the Trinitarian Congregational. We all hope they will visit us again and that we will then have some real Northfield summer weather for their enjoyment.

LEGIONAIRES GETTING THEIR PEN- CILS SHARPENED FOR THE FINAL COMPARATIVE SURVEY

CONTEST CLOSES AT MIDNIGHT OF APRIL 30

This will be our last issue in the Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up, Plant Up campaign, as it will close for Northfield at midnight on Tuesday, April 30th. Right after that date the legionnaires will make their comparative survey and we expect to print the interesting figured results in our next issue. From these statistics we think we will be able to show which streets in Northfield did the most clean up work; and then, as a whole, which section, Northfield, East Northfield, West Northfield and Northfield Farms ... did the best work.

While we are as yet without any official reports we have noted parties of both Boy and Girl Scouts at work in various places and have heard of several fine things they have already done for the good of the community in this campaign.

Haven H. Spencer post of the American Legion did a good job on their preliminary survey. In all they covered 459 places; 140 in Northfield, 164 in East Northfield, 59 in West Northfield and 96 in Northfield Farms. Of these, in total, they registered 14 in A class, 296 in B class, 149 in C class. By sections there were in Northfield 5 in A class, 113 in B class, 22 in C class. In East Northfield, 6 in A class, 129 in B class, 29 in C class. In West Northfield 1 in A class, 20 in B class, 38 in C class. In Northfield Farms 2 in A class, 34 in B class, 60 in C class.

Our advertisers have also rallied around us splendidly in this campaign and, at this time, we want to express our appreciation for their support. And, to the legionnaires of Haven H. Spencer post of the American Legion, and to the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts of the local troops, we also extend our felicitations and congratulations upon the way they have availed themselves of this opportunity for the welfare of the community.

PURPLE GRACKLES AND STARLINGS NOT PROTECTED BY LAW

Mrs. Thomas Malay of Springfield is visiting her brother Louie Davis of Warwick avenue.

Neither starlings nor purple grackles are protected by law and you are at liberty to shoot them at any time provided you comply with any laws governing the use of firearms. There may be local restrictions prohibiting the use of guns in your neighborhood, and I think that a state hunting permit is required, but there is no closed season on these birds.

CORRESPONDENCE

Funds for Baseball

Editor, Northfield Press,
Dear Sir:

I would like to call attention to the people of Northfield through the medium of your paper about the activities of our local Athletic Association.

As every one should know, it's rather an expensive proposition to run a good baseball team successfully. A short time ago the boys put on a play from Hinsdale at the town hall. A very small sum was realized on that venture.

Now the boys are co-operating with the high school boys by giving them a percentage on the membership blanks sold. This way of raising money, I am told, is proving only moderately successful to date.

Nearly everyone, I think, would like to see another good baseball team here again this year so let's get behind the boys and help them a little, financially, if possible and then go to the games and give them our support. An Ardent Baseball Fan.

LAW PRES. HOOVER

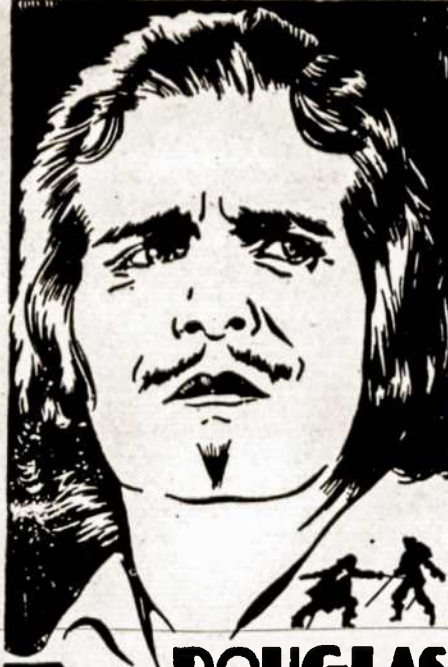

Quoted These Words of Abraham Lincoln That Apply so Aptly

"Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear up the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap. Let it be taught in the schools, in seminaries, in colleges. Let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in the legislative halls, enforced in courts of justice. And, in short, let it become the political religion of the Nation, and let the old and the young, the rich and the poor, the grave and the gay of all sexes and tongues and colors and conditions sacrifice unceasingly upon its altar."

NATIONAL EGG WEEK
FROM MAY 1 to 7

A special effort is being made by the State Department of Agriculture to focus public attention on the value of eggs in the diet during National Egg Week, May 1 to 7. Acting in co-operation with the agricultural college, the state and county extension service and the various poultry associations, the department is pushing the use of more eggs, not only during the week but during the entire spring when they are at their best and when they are the most economical to use. While the efforts of these groups are more particularly aimed at increasing the demand for Massachusetts eggs, as a piece of service to the poultrymen of the state, they are also co-operating with the commission merchants and other handlers of eggs in large quantities, in the effort to increase the use of all eggs, irrespective of their origin. This is natural as Mass. poultrymen produce less than ten percent of the eggs consumed in Massachusetts.

A special committee of which Julius Kroeck of the Division of Markets, State Department of Agriculture is chairman, has worked up a program for next week intended to focus attention on the value of eggs. Prof. W. C. Monahan of the Mass. Agricultural college will give three radio talks on eggs, one over WEEI, one over WTAG and one over WBZ. Many stores in Boston, Worcester, Springfield and other cities will feature eggs in their advertising next week by arrangements with the committee, and many restaurants will give eggs a prominent place on their menus. Large quantities of circulars and posters will be sent out and displayed and other activities will be undertaken as local ways of boosting the use of eggs. The many poultry associations of the state are co-operating in the distribution of this printed matter. They are also arranging in some instances for special window displays in their local stores during egg week.

cial window displays in their local stores during egg week.

The committee in charge of the Massachusetts observance of egg week is Mr. Kroeck, Harold Barber of the Mass. Certified Poultry Breeders' association, John Cutting, representing the dealers in eggs, Prof. J. C. Graham of the Mass. Agricultural college, Miss Margaret Curley of the New England Poultryman and Harry L. Piper.

Maple Sugar Crop

George C. Cary, St. Johnsbury authority on maple sugar, reports that the Vermont crop is about 75 per cent of last year's yield. Many Vermont farmers have already gathered their buckets, though those that have not done so will likely get another run.

The crop in Ohio was almost a failure with the yield in Maryland and Pennsylvania almost as poor. New York state, next to Vermont the largest producer in the Union, only yielded about half as much as last year. In all these states except Vermont the season is closed.

Conditions in Canada are better as the crop in the Eastern townships is large.

Grange Honors Veterans

In Massachusetts a new plan just adopted proposes to award a medal of honor to every Grange member in that state who has continuously belonged to one subordinate Grange for 50 years or more, and is still in good standing. Many men and women in the Bay State qualify under this offer and the medals will be awarded very shortly. The Grange in Massachusetts dates back to 1873 and at the present time there are 300 subordinate units and 50,000 members in that state.

The modern pullman car costs $100,000.

Evening Tide

When the evening comes, and shadows fall
O'er land and sea.
And the birds last call
Comes sweet and clear to me.

When the singing waters at their play,
And Nature in her quiet way
Listens for the Master's voice,
It makes the roaring waves rejoice.

Then I too know that the Master's here,
For I feel His presence near, so near.

Sitting in the shadows at the close of day,
Trusting Thee and waiting for the broader way;
Resting in the promises, Thou hast given me.

Waiting for the light of Thy dear face to see.

As the singing waters, flow on from day to day,
I will trust Thee ever, on the Homeward way.

Curious uses are made on South America of the poisonous secretion of the frog, says the Bureau of Biological Survey of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. One is to produce yellow feathers on the Amazon green parrot. The blue or green feathers of the head and neck are plucked out, and the areas rubbed with the back of a living frog, and when the feathers grow out again they are yellow instead of blue or green. The same secretion is used by Indians in Colombia to make poisoned arrows, enough poison being obtained from one animal for 50 arrows. They are used chiefly for shooting monkeys.

The beauty of flowers—the Message of Affection

FLORIST

Flowers of all kinds are a natural part and have a place in the Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up campaign. Not only should every home have living flowers in the garden, in window-boxes and indoors, but the gift of flowers to friends and on anniversary occasions is a charming idea. They always seem to speak the language of brightness and hope and joy. Nature is indeed the pioneer of the Clean Up and Paint Up plan. Send flowers and spread the doctrine.

WE REGRET TO STATE THAT WE BELIEVE THE WARS OF THE WORLD ARE NOT YET OVER

The visiting Company G of the Boy's Brigade from Cambridge has come and gone and our little town has lost the military air that seemed to pervade everything during the last week-end. They were a fine bunch and our own Boy's Brigade here in Northfield kept their own end up well, so that the whole occasion was pleasant for all concerned. We certainly admire the unselfish services so freely given in this cause by the officers and civilian heads of both organizations and we know that they are sincere and enthusiastic in their ambition for the benefit of the boys they command.

For our own part, however, having been in army service, in both peace and war, regulars and volunteers, and (perhaps most colorful of all) a member of the Army of Occupation of a defeated nation; we must confess that we do not like this exclusive squad and manual of arms training for very small as well as the larger boys. We feel that the Boy Scouts, who also have the squad as a minor part of their activity, are coming far closer to the ideal of a healthy outlet for the energies of the growing boy.

We do not like war nor preparation for war, but we know that wars are going to be fought for generations to come and that it is vitally necessary to prepare the growing boys for the call to the colors, when that call comes. But we contend that in the way the Great War was fought and the way future wars are likely to be fought, this squad and manual of arms training, such as the Boy's Brigade go in for, is not of anything like the value of the diversified physical and mental training that the best type of scoutmaster gives to his troop of Boy Scouts.

However, we have no desire to set ourselves up as the final arbiter of everything and feel mighty proud of the fact that here in Northfield we have both Boy's Brigade and Boy Scouts (and Girl Scouts, too) and we want to help and encourage them all in any and every way that we can.

THRILLS ARE A MIGHTY GOOD THING WHEN NOT CARRIED TO EXCESS

Some folks seem to think that "thrills" and the seeking for them are not altogether commendable. "What youth won't do for a thrill," said the father of a sixteen year old girl recently. His daughter and her friends planned to have a picnic supper and watch the sunset from a hill, but they had decided that it would be more thrilling to wait until dark and eat in the graveyard.

Of course youth searches for thrills, and maturity does, too, if it knows what is good for it, for thrills are quite essential to physical and mental well being. Life without thrills is life without flavor and that is the beginning of nervous and mental ill health. What is a thrill but an acute sensation, or experience, which makes the individual feeling it more keenly alive? In joy, laughter, excitement, especially, our bodies are energized. The blood pressure rises, the circulation improves and various glands throw secretions into the blood which get us ready for intense activity. These changes make us feel more alive and give us zest for living. Au contraire, without such agreeable thrills, now and then, our blood stream becomes sluggish, inert, even poisoned; and nervous and mental troubles, with organic disease as logical sequence, will follow. Even fear, anger, rage, pain, sex excitement, etc., are better than no thrills at all, altho their reactions are not so potentially healthful as the thrills of joy and happiness and novelty and so on.

Thrills are nature's energizers. Wanting thrills is a healthy instinct. To deliberately try to shut them out of your life is suicidal. The one who thus tries to save his life, only loses it ahead of time. And, of course, we are not advocating foolishness just for the sake of a thrill. Not at all. What we mean is accepting each opportunity that God gives us for novelty, joy and happiness.

God wants everybody to be happy. He wants everybody to do only those things that will make for happiness. The trouble with the world is that so many are mistaken in what makes for happiness and choose the wrong thing. However, there can be no doubt that we are a long ways ahead of our ancestors in this particular. And we are improving, from century to century. Get all the happy thrills you can. Cheerio.

Proposed Sugar Tariff

The effect of the three cent sugar tariff proposed against Cuban sugar by the House Ways and Means Committee has been discussed in a statement to the press in Washington by H. A. Lakin, who represents the U. S. Sugar Association and American investors in Cuba. He says the proposition to tax Cuban sugar three cents a pound means that the United States sugar growers are asking 6,500,000 farmers and the rest of the country to pay $85,371,000 more for their sugar this year than they paid last year. The beet growers furnished the largest body of evidence in favor of the raise in the tariff. "However, less than one-half of the beet people desire any increase," says Mr. Lakin. "I believe that I know positively that the Great Western Sugar Co. and the Holly interests would much prefer not to have the duty increased, and would not feel aggrieved if it should be lowered. They produce more than half of the beet sugar."

As a part of farm relief Mr. Lakin declares the proposed raise in the tariff on Cuban sugar is a fatuous thing. "Is it fair to mulct 98 1/2 per cent of the farmers of this country out of $20,000,000 in order to give one-half per cent of the farmers $8,750,000?" he asks.

Ella Vator—"I want a cap, please, for my husband."

Clerk—"Yes, madam, what size does he wear?"

Ella Vator—"Well, I really forget. His collar are size 16; I expect he'd want about size 18 or 20 for a cap, wouldn't he?"

FREE INSTRUCTION IN PRODUCTION OF GAME BIRDS FOR YOUNG MEN

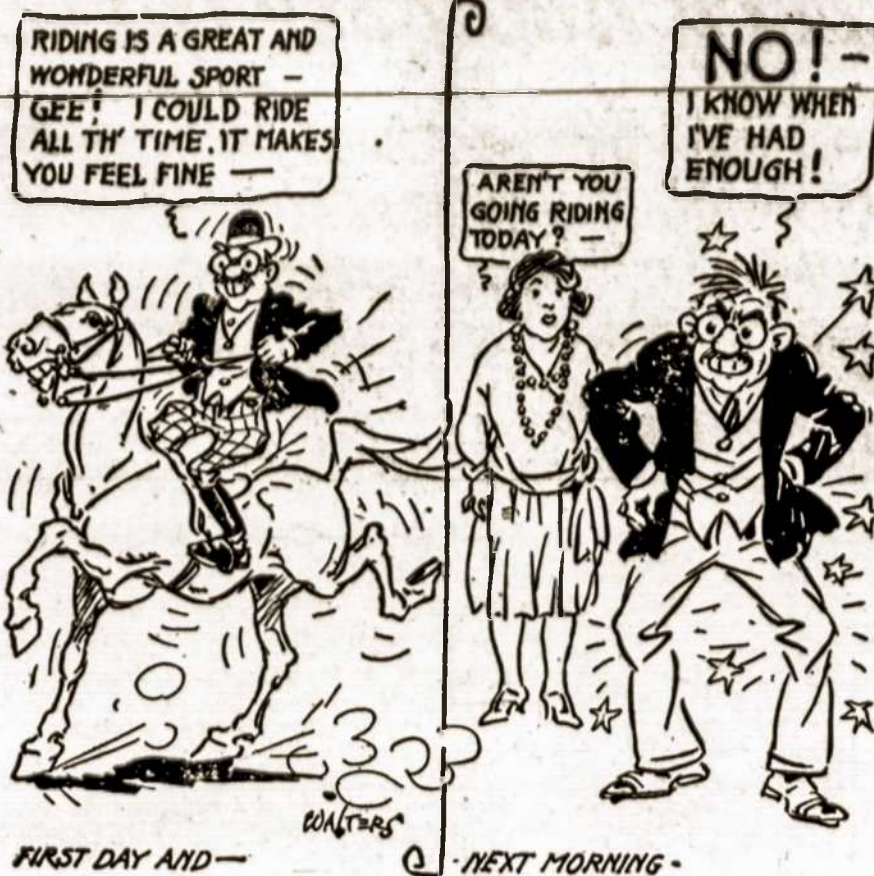

The Game Conservation Society of 20 East 42nd street, New York city, has offered free instruction in the production of game birds to a limited number of young men, at its Game Keepers' School at Clinton, New Jersey. Spring classes are forming for students to begin between May 1 and May 15. There is such a demand on the part of sportsmen's clubs, game commissions and private individuals for trained men in this work that, in order to supply the demand, the Game Conservation Society has undertaken to give this free training to young men who are qualified for the work. Some twenty students have lately left the school to take positions. A tract of 1400 acres is operated by the school, on which some thousands of game birds are raised yearly. There has lately been erected a modern new dormitory for the students. Instruction is given by competent teachers and covers everything needed for modern game raising. There is a nominal charge for board at the school.

Wife—"Now, that I've had my hair bobbed, I don't think I look so much like an old lady."

Husband—"No, my dear. Now you look like an old gentleman."

An Irishman who had seven daughters was asked whether he would be happier with a million dollars instead of a large family. The Irishman thought a minute and said, "I don't think so. If I had a million dollars I would want more."

GOOD WORK OF BOY SCOUTS IN REFORESTATION

The record of 1,000,000 trees planted by Boy Scouts last year in reforestation projects throughout the United States will be surpassed this year, according to advance reports already received at the National Offices in New York City.

The largest single tree-planting project already reported was started on April 6, at Grays Harbor, Washington, when 100 Boy Scouts began the planting of 100,000 fir trees on a tract near the Olympic National Forest.

As an aid in the reforestation of Pennsylvania, Boy Scouts of Scranton have purchased a 441-acre tract in Wayne county which they intend to use as a forest preserve.

ATTRACTION EXTRAORDINARY!

A Unique and Delightful Evening's Entertainment

NORTHFIELD TOWN HALL
WEDNESDAY, MAY 8th

At 8 o'clock P. M.

Here are the facts:

Haven H. Spencer Post, A. L. requires money to put across matters that they believe to be helpful to our entire community. And so:

A committee have gone to expense of both time and money in order to find something new and novel, for Northfield at least, in the way of an entertainment that would likely please the largest number of people.

After examining several propositions that appeared to be attractive the committee finally decided upon a professional group, a variety trio, and, at no inconsiderable expense, have secured them for the above date.

This variety trio have the strongest possible endorsements for versatility and clean, strong fun of all kinds, and their musicianship is of a high order. In addition to singing they will play seven different instruments; their dancing includes buck and wing, clog and novelties; they have several character burlesques in costume and their Fun a la Collegiate is a whole show in itself.

An evening's entertainment that will cause you to forget all your troubles and send you away refreshed for the battle of life.

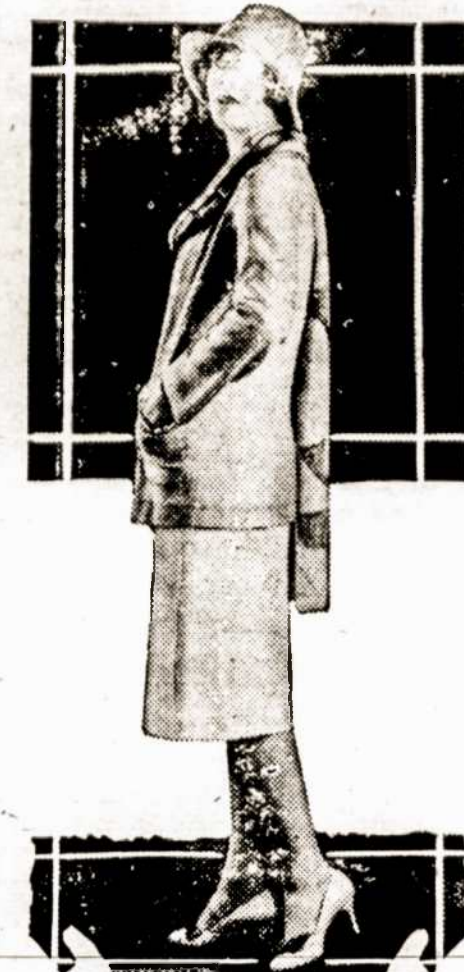

Tickets, at 50 cents each, will be on sale by all members of the Legion and Legion Auxiliary and it is hoped to sell the hall's capacity before the date of the show. If so, SOME ADDITIONAL FEATURES BESIDES THE SHOW ITSELF ARE PLANNED. Tell you about them later.

NORTHFIELD TOWN HALL
Wednesday, May 8th, at 8 P. M.

Under the auspices of Haven H. Spencer Post, AMERICAN LEGION

As a good turn to the community in which they live, Boy Scouts of Staten Island, New York, have offered to being evergreen trees from their Camp grounds in Sullivan county, N. Y., and plant them around municipal buildings, churches and schoolhouses on the island.

Long Scarfs in Vogue

Long scarfs are a fashion note for the summer season. This model wears a four-yard strip of yellow and orange batik material worn with care-less chic about her shoulders. A yellow jersey and white flannel skirt create an effective background for this voluminous scarf.

Scouts in Worcester, Mass., Hackensack, N. J., and Springfield, Mass., have again started a campaign to rid their localities of tree pests.

NEW ENGLAND INST. OF CO-OPERATION MEETS IN JUNE

A. W. Gilbert, Boston, state commissioner of agriculture; John D. Zink, Springfield, manager of the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange; E. H. Castle, East Bridgewater Cooperative Exchange and A. E. Cance, professor of economics at M. A. C. are among the Massachusetts men who will speak at the third annual meeting of the New England Institute of Co-operation.

This meeting, according to L. A. Cooley of the Vermont Bureau of Markets, is now definitely scheduled to be held at Burlington, June 20, 21, and 22. It was formerly announced to be at Montpelier.

County agricultural agents from Massachusetts and Connecticut are planning to attend this meeting as a group, the institute taking the place to some extent of their annual summer conference.

Representing the Division of Co-operative Marketing, United States Department of Agriculture will be A. W. McKay, who will present to the institute the point of view of the department relative to farmers' cooperation throughout the United States. Other speakers will be Clyde King of the University of Pennsylvania, H. A.

The Temperance Trees

"As these two trees grow and spread their branches, so the cause of temperance shall grow and spread throughout the world."

The late Frances E. Willard, founder of the W. C. T. U., spoke these words 55 years ago as she planted two small horse chestnut trees behind Rest Cottage, her home in Evanston, Ill.

The trees took root and grew rapidly. In time they became known as the Temperance Trees because of the custom of posting bulletins on them announcing the progress of prohibition in various states.

Recently they became to show of decay. Because of their connection with Miss Willard and their dedication as symbols of the cause of temperance, officials of the W. C. T. U., were anxious to save them. Davey tree experts found the areas of decay extensive and a major operation necessary. The trees are recovering and should live for several generations.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

More About Moonshine

The moon "shines" because of the reflection of the sun upon it. However, we can sometimes see the complete circle of the moon even though the face of that body is not directly in the sun's light. This is because the reflection of the sun on the earth is bright enough to make it visible to us.

FORD MOTOR TESTS IN SWITZERLAND

An official test of the Model A Ford motor in Switzerland, with the Alps as the proving ground, has demonstrated that the new Ford could be operated for a long, continuous period over abrupt, steep hills, without lifting the hood. Reports of the test have just been received by the Ford Motor company.

The Ford motor was kept running for a period of six days and during virtually all of that time the car was enroute over the operation while the driver rested. Day and night the test continued. No attempt was made for distance or speed, the sole object being to determine the reliability and power of the automobile.

The fact that the trip was made when roads and climate conditions in the mountains were bad is cited as further evidence of the stability of the Ford car. A strictly standard Model A Ford with Tudor body was used. Zurich was the starting point. The hood of the car was sealed officially by a representative of the township. Two persons occupied the car, the driver and his relief.

Passing through Lucerne and the Grimsel Pass, the car took the Furka Pass at an altitude of 2,431 meters, then the St. Gothard Pass down the Italian lakes through all the large Swiss towns and back to Zurich. On its return the seals were examined by the official who first placed them on the hood and were found intact.

In each town the car was stopped, but not the motor. The motor ran constantly from the time the car was started in Zurich until the return six days later.

THE JEWELER'S CRAFTSMANSHIP

There are so many things in a jeweler's shop which assist in putting the finishing beauty-touch to a home. Fine silverware and beautiful cut glass of course head the list. Then there are the refinements of clocks, vases, works of real art. They belong in the modern home conducted in the modern, progressive manner. They are signs of quiet prosperity and of discriminating taste. Therefore they play their vital part in the present campaign.

"While you are in the Clean Up and Paint Up mood, why not give a thought to this Fix Up idea? It extends to the plumbing in your house. Have there been leaky taps, stopped-up drains, rusted gutters? The plumbing in a house can't go forever without expert attention, you know. It wears out in time or at least comes in need of a good look-over. And we are ready to do this work for you thoroughly and economically."

Cheer-up with Radio

If you haven't a radio as yet, you will come to it. That is the surest thing in the world. Why deny yourself evenings of fascinating entertainment, as you pluck from the air a jazz orchestra in a distant restaurant, a Presidential speech, the details of a spirited prize fight, the latest sentimental song, or an entire opera as given on a great stage.

Yes, radio must come into your life. Or perhaps you have an outmoded set which is giving you trouble.

Here again science has given us the one-dial set—freedom from interference, and the electric light socket attachment, which dispenses with the bothersome storage battery.

We have the latest in radios, and an installation will immediately prove that our recommendations are altogether trustworthy.

Burn Rubbish and prevent dangerous fires

Way stuff papers, rags, broken boxes and other inflammable things in the attic, in the cellar, alongside the house, or in the back yard as so many of us persist in doing?

These loose rubbish deposits are fire traps, whether we are willing to concede as much or not. Fire statistics show that they are all of that.

In a safe place in the back yard keep one of the simple, modern catchalls of steel, into which trash can be placed and burned with safety. Bits of flaming paper cannot escape and there are few, if any, sparks. The cost of one of these devices is surely less than the cost of a new house!

Hopis Give Mr. Curtis a Necklace

HOME DECORATION INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR COURSES NOW OFFERED

Making the home more attractive and restful to the eye, both inside and out, is an inexpensive process if the practical help is accepted as offered by University Extension of the State Department of Education. Two home study courses, one in exterior home decoration, the other in interior home decoration, are ready for this purpose. Interested persons are advised to communicate at once with University Extension, State House Boston.

The course in exterior home decoration will assist home makers in choosing a new color scheme for spring painting through careful consideration of a few basic rules substituted for the usual decision made upon personal color preferences. This course also shows the householders how to adapt renovations such as dormer windows to the architectural style of his house. The home owner will discover that few plants may be put to so many uses as the ornamental vines which may be employed to shade a sunny veranda, hide the lines of a poorly constructed porch or replace an unsightly view with a wall of beautiful greenery and colorful bloom. Other interesting subjects in this short course of six lessons are grading, planting, and renovating lawns laying out walks; arrangement of grounds for appearance, service and pleasure; choice, arrangement and care of trees and shrubs; artistic combination of flowers for planting garden of various types. Every course member is invited to send the instructor actual photographs of his home, together with his own ideas for remodeling the house and its surroundings. In this way, with the assistance of the instructor, he can take advantage of existing good qualities in the house and turn them to good account.

The course in interior decoration, also consisting of six lessons, has been carefully planned with the idea that the home is a reflector of the home maker's personality. It illustrates the fact that real beauty is not dependent upon the amount of money invested and that simple and economical fabrics and furniture, if carefully chosen, may make a home as beautiful and tasteful as much more costly selections.

In this course the student is enabled to make suitable choice of color schemes for the various rooms of the home, carefully considering the size of each room, its use, the amount of sunshine it receives and the like. Practical suggestions will also be made for minor changes which may alter the appearance of a room that cannot be remodeled entirely.

The following are some of the subjects discussed in this course: color and color harmony; floors and floor coverings; windows and doors and their treatment; furniture; choice in hanging of pictures; lamps and bric-a-brac. Each student is encouraged to discuss her own problems and adapt the course to her own personal needs.

A Spiritual Birth

John 3:3, 6, 8. Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. 6. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. 8. The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

John 1:12, 13. As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: 13. Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

PRAYER—I will rise now and seek Him whom my soul loveth.

Old Time Corn Favorites

BECAUSE of its presence as a native of America, corn was one of the foods which the settlers of our country used in great abundance. And because it was one of the few vegetables to be found, the variations in the manner of cooking it were many.

Of course, the early method of preserving was to dry it, but, later, when canning became established, the recipes were revised to suit this newer, better method. Here are some corn recipes that our great-grandmothers would recognize as desirable descendants of their own recipes.

The Old Becomes New

Corn and Salmon Pudding: Mix, in the order given, one number two can of corn, one tablespoon melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one small can salmon, one tablespoon evaporated milk. Bake in a baking dish in a moderate oven—350° F.—for thirty minutes.

Escalloped Corn and Eggplant: Sauté one chopped green pepper, two chopped pimientos, and three cups of diced eggplant in three tablespoons of butter until slightly brown. Add one can corn, one cup thin cream, two teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, and pour into a buttered casserole. Cover with crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for about forty-five minutes. Just before removing from the oven, remove the lid and brown the crumbs.

LITTLE MEN

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Every man, if he had his own way, would choose to be tall and commanding in figure. It takes a courageous author to cast his hero in the role of an insignificant person. Broad shoulders, heads towering above the crowd, and physical giants in general have always been in favor. It is the little, wizened man who takes the in significant role.

Men have tried in many ways physically to impress their companions. Long tailed coats, high heels, high hats, and high manners have all had their day in an attempt to camouflage a lack of size and to give a false impression of height. I suppose it was some such purpose as this which led to the designing of french heels and silk hats for certainly the first is not comfortable nor the second beautiful.

Many great men have been physically small, and most of them have been sensitive as to their size, and have attempted in one way or another to conceal their physical deficiencies. I imagine Napoleon swaggered. Practically all the pictures I have ever seen of him shows him in dignified, almost pompous isolation. He is alone on St. Helena; he stands at a distance from men of greater stature when he reviews his army. He avoids consciously, I have no doubt, the contrast of men of greater stature. Most little men whom I have known so try to conceal their smallness of stature as to emphasize it. They are conscious of their physical deficiency and by excessive dignity make everyone they meet aware of it.

There was Mills, for instance, scarcely five feet he was. Had he taken his lack of height as a matter of course, or had he admitted to himself that nature had done him a humorous turn in cutting off ten inches or a foot from his normal size, people would have given little consideration to his condition excepting possibly casually to notice it and then at once to forget the fact. But Mills wore high hats and high heels. He would walk into a room with his shoulders thrown back and his chest out as if he were Goliath going out to battle. He always suggested a little bantam rooster ready for a fight. His entrance always created a ripple of laughter, or a knowing smile to spread over the faces of those present. His excess of dignity tended to make him ridiculous rather than to impress people with his importance.

Physical size really counts for much less than small people think. We expect more of a big man than of one undersized. His failure to meet a situation awakens more comment than when an undersized individual fails to come up to the mark. If Goliath had not been so great we should not have given David so much credit for putting an end to him, and David at that time was only a slender, undeveloped boy. If the little man would not assume excessive dignity his under size might be an asset rather than a handicap.
